

Bad cops cause drop in confidence

2012-12-16 14:28

Johannesburg - Corrupt police officers cause dwindling confidence in law enforcement, North West Premier Thandi Modise said on Sunday.

"There should be no place in the police service for those who disgrace the dignified blue uniform, those who terrorise our communities instead of protecting them," she said in a statement.

Modise was responding to the arrest of a police constable in connection with the kidnap and assault of a man in Taung.

The man claimed he was kidnapped from his home in Lokgabeng village, Taung, on Saturday, police spokesperson Lieutenant Colonel Lesego Metsi said.

He was asleep when three intruders apparently woke him up, tied his hands, put him into a car and drove off with him.

"The victim alleges that the suspects assaulted him and accused him of having stolen their property. He told police that the suspects pulled his private parts and urinated on him before robbing him of his cellular phone and a cash."

A woman constable, a man and a woman were arrested. They would appear in the Taung Magistrate's Court on Tuesday.

Thandi, wake up and face the fact that it your ANC policies and way of doing that causes these problems. The ANC leadership and their outdated ideological ideas must be removed if we ever want to stop crime.

ian.robertreid - December 16, 2012 at 16:54

Report commentComments Policy

No bail~ 15 years hard labour ~ teach the mothers?

1

0

Reply to ian.robertreid | 0 comments \(hide\) | Delete

Seven alleged terrorists have been arrested for reportedly planning to bomb one of the big plenary tents used for the ANC's 53rd national elective conference in Mangaung.

Mantashe lets rip at ANCYL, Cosatu

Ill-disciplined ANC members, the party's youth league and Cosatu have received a tongue lashing from secretary general Gwede Mantashe at the ANC's national conference in Mangaung.

Sidelined ANC members want talks

Free State and North West ANC members in conflict with their party have demanded that their case be discussed at the party's national conference in Mangaung.

inside news24

Latest comment in South Africa mathata.fela.7 says... John, democracy in South Africa is what our glorious leaders tell us it is. Stop reading books look around you. Ar you telling me the DA will not take our grants away? Read the article...

